New scheme to redevelop 'eyesore' pub

A DERELICT Haverhill pub could be turned into flats and shops within 18 months.

Radford Homes is hoping to submit a planning application to redevelop the Vixen in Strassbourg Square before the end of the year.

If planning permission is granted, the development would take around a year to build, meaning it could be open by spring 2018.

Radford Homes architect Chris Read said: "The square has been relandscaped and money invested in it. And the pub is stood there, unused and dilapidated and being vandalised and such like."

"It needs to be the final part of the redevelopment of that area - I think the proposals we are putting forward will do that."

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

The Vixen has been derelict for more than half a decade since it was put up for sale in 2010 and has been described as an eyesore.

It was bought by funeral directors R Gwinnell and Sons, but plans to turn it into a funeral parlour never went ahead.

Radford Homes bought the building after seeing calls to have it renovated on the front of the News in October, 2014.

The company's plans would see the current building extended and converted to accommodate 18 one- and two-bedroom flats, as well as two shops.

A public consultation event was held last Thursday evening at the Chalkstone Community Centre in the Square.

Mr Read said: "We generally received very positive responses to all aspects of the scheme."

"I think residents understood that we were doing all we possibly could with respect to car parking."

He said there were plans to extend the current car park and allocate some spaces to residents in the proposed flats.

The application, when it is submitted, will be decided by St Edmundsbury Borough Council. Residents will be able to view and comment on the application on the council's website after it is submitted.

ALL OF YOUR HEARING PROBLEMS SOLVED, WITHOUT ANYBODY KNOWING!

At last, a technological breakthrough that allows you to hear clearly again and nobody will know you're wearing it. Try it NOW for FREE!

When questioned about this recent breakthrough, Daniel Bainbridge, Audiologist at Hearing Healthcare Centre explained, "Today's society is active and fast paced. People need technology that will perform dynamically and faultlessly, whilst seamlessly blending into their lives. A 'set and forget' mentality. As audiologists, we have all, on occasion, had to sacrifice aesthetics in favour of providing the best hearing solution for our clients."

The revolutionary new Unitron Moxi Now offers no compromises.

Revolutionary Technology

The Unitron Moxi Now is fully automatic, providing a hassle-free listening experience that provides supreme clarity. With the use of SoundNav technology, these hearing instruments can seamlessly identify your environment and ensure you receive the correct sound to provide maximum benefit. Speech quality is at the heart of the new Moxi Now; designed to make speech sound clear and natural. These aids can quickly identify and focus on the target voice, and decrease nuisance background noise.

Try It! Wear It! Love It!

At Hearing Healthcare Centre, we appreciate the significance of good hearing, and its importance in maintaining an active lifestyle. Choosing the right hearing instrument plays a vital part in maximising your hearing. That's why we are offering you the unique opportunity to try this premium technology, for FREE. No Deposit, No Contract, No Obligations. We simply want to give our clients the opportunity to try these amazing hearing aids for themselves.

HEARING HEALTHCARE CENTRE - UNITRON 'CENTRE OF EXCELLENCE'

Hearing Matters

As one of the world's most common health issues, hearing loss affects 360 million people worldwide. Recent studies have found that 1 in 6 people in the UK suffer from a form of hearing loss, with 75% of those being of working age.

Our resident audiologist, Daniel, explains "Although hearing loss can be caused by exposure to loud noise or genetic influences, for most people, hearing loss is a natural and gradual part of the ageing process." He continues "Despite popular misconceptions, hearing loss is not like listening to sounds with the volume turned down. Instead, you may find that certain spoken sounds - like 'sh', 'th' and 'f' - are more difficult to hear than others. That's why people often find that they can hear people talking, but can't understand what is being said."

Aesthetically Pleasing

Proving that small doesn't mean a compromise on power, the new Moxi<sup>TM</sup> Now delivers premium sound quality in a stylish, discrete package. The Moxi<sup>TM</sup> Now is the latest addition to the design-focused line of Receiver in the Ear hearing instruments from Unitron, including the reddot design award winners, the Moxi<sup>TM</sup> Kids and the Moxi<sup>TM</sup> Fit.

The World's Smallest Hearing Aid

At Hearing Healthcare Centre, we are extremely excited about the new Moxi Now, and we want you to be one of the first to try it!

The Moxi<sup>TM</sup> Now, at 39% smaller in volume than Unitron's next smallest RTE, and 14% smaller than the next closest competitor, delivers amazing comfort, beautiful aesthetics and intuitive functionality in the smallest wireless RTE in the world.

Our free, 2-week trial allows you to experience, first hand, the true benefits that the latest in hearing technology can bring, all in the comfort of your own home.

The trial is also available to family and friends alike...so, if you know anyone who has previously been reluctant to try hearing aids for the first time...this may be the perfect opportunity for them to experience how good their hearing could be with Moxi<sup>TM</sup> Now.

FIVE STAR SERVICE AND AFTERCARE

Five Star Service

As a family-run, independent audiologist, which has been serving the local community for over 50 years, we were delighted to read a recent Which? report that highlighted a fact that we have known for years - local independent hearing centres really do offer their customers a superior service. The consumer watchdog conducted a survey amongst its hearing aid-wearing members and the results conclusively proved that the independents outperform the competition on every front. Customers were asked about their experiences with private hearing aid retailers - as opposed to NHS - and local independent retailers scored a unanimous 5 out of 5 in every category: products, pricing, staff, service, arrangements and facilities. The report stated: "The difference between a good and a bad hearing aid solution is not usually the aid itself, since most hearing aids are made by a handful of manufacturers. It's more to do with the professional retailers - as opposed to NHS - and local independent retailers scored a unanimous 5 out of 5 in every fit and service given by the provider."

Local. Dedicated. Trusted.

Hearing Healthcare Centre are well known for our exceptionally high standards of service, support and aftercare, and we receive many word-of-mouth recommendations.

As an AHAIP and Unitron 'Centre of Excellence', we have access to all the latest products and offer professional and unbiased advice.

BUSINESS

OPENING SOON: Work being done on the High Street shop where the East of England Co-Op will open a new funeral parlour before the end of the year

Fourth funeral home to open

A FOURTH funeral home is set to open in Haverhill – meaning the town has as many undertakers as GP practices.

East of England Co-Op – a different company to The Co-Operative – has confirmed that it will be opening a funeral director's at 28 High Street, Haverhill. The branch is set to open before the end of the year.

This joins the Co-Operative Funeralcare, also in the High Street, H J Paintin in Haverhill's Withersfield Road and Peasgood and Skeates, which opened earlier this year in Haverhill.

Meanwhile, the town has just four GP practices, two in Camps Road, one in Greenfields Way, and one in Crown passage off the High Street.

But Cllr Betty McLatchy, who has campaigned for improvements to healthcare in Haverhill, said she was not worried.

She said healthcare was set to improve in the town, with a new ultrasound machine bought through community fundraising set to be up and running in the New Year.

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

She said about the increase in undertakers: "I would think there's a need for it. It saves people having to travel out of town, and competition is good, isn't it?"

"It's such an important part of the end of life to treat people properly. A quality undertaker is really worth having."

"It's filling up shop space rather than having an empty shop."

Phil Warner, of Peasgood and Skeates, which opened its branch in Queen Street in March this year, said: "We just saw it as a natural extension of our existing business in the area that we cover."

Peasgood and Skeates is a local company with branches in Saffron Walden, Cambridge and Duxford. Mr

Warner said it had already been providing funerals in the Haverhill area before the branch in the town opened.

Andrew Dawes, head of funeral services at the East of England Co-Op, said that his company's decision to open a branch in Haverhill was also based on its current trading practises.

He said: "Research indicates to us that the Haverhill community would benefit from an independent, co-operative funeral director in the town. This research is based upon detailed knowledge of the thousands of families who choose to use our services every year, and data published by the Office of National Statistics."

It is expected that only one new job will be created as a result of the latest funeral parlour opening its doors,

EMERGENCY

Van driver, 23, is killed in collision on A1307

FREYA LENG and RAYMOND BROWN

A MAN was killed in a crash on the A1307 on Monday morning.

Curtis Payne, 23, of Chigwell, was driving a Ford Transit van between Cambridge and Linton when it was in collision with a black Hyundai Tucson and a Volvo lorry at about 8am.

Mr Payne died at the scene. No-one else was injured.

The crash came after a spate of four accidents on the road in the space of three days a fortnight ago.

Now renewed calls are being made for improvements to the A1307.

Paul Donno, chairman of Haverhill Chamber of Commerce who has been campaigning for the road to be a dual carriageway, said: "It's obviously shocking and very sad for the families involved.

"I think it just reinforces the A1307 is a road that's not fit for purpose.

"We need to take pretty immediate action on it. We met the Transport Minister a year ago."

MP for West Suffolk Matthew Hancock added "My thoughts are with the family at this difficult time. The road is very dangerous and far too many tragic accidents have occurred along this stretch of the road, particularly where the dual carriageway goes into a single carriageway and drivers try to overtake. This puts all drivers at risk and it must stop.

"I have been campaigning for the dualling of the A1307 since I was elected MP of West Suffolk. It is not only a key issue continuously raised by my constituents, but as today's accident highlights it is a matter of life and death. Together with Suffolk Chamber of Commerce in Haverhill, I am leading a campaign for improvements to the A1307 between Haverhill and the A11. I will continue to fight tirelessly until the A1307 is dualled."

Cllr Henry Batchelor, who represents the Linton ward on South Cambridgeshire District Council, added: "In recent years we've campaigned to lower the speed limit from 60-50mph on the stretch of the road outside the villages which we have successfully done.

CRASH: The scene on the A1307 on Monday morning

Picture: Keith Jones

"The road is one of the most dangerous in the country for the number of fatalities for the miles of tarmac. There's been a lot of development as well going along the whole A1307 corridor.

"It all stems from there being too much traffic on the road. The road is at capacity."

Crash witnesses should call Cambridgeshire police's Sergeant Chris Clare on 101.

CRIME

Police target drivers using mobiles

POLICE using plain motorbikes have been patrolling Suffolk's roads this week to catch drivers using their mobile phones.

Operation Ringtone, which started on Monday and runs until Sunday, sees police officers driving marked and unmarked cars and bikes catching out motorists using their mobiles.

Chief Inspector Kris Barnard, of Norfolk and Suffolk Police, said: "Often, when patrolling in marked vehicles people adapt their behaviour accordingly; the benefit of unmarked vehicles is that we will capture behaviour as it happens and on camera. All roads policing vehicles are fitted with cameras and the motorcyclists will be wearing head cameras to secure evidence and successful prosecutions."

The unmarked bikes are being used to target drivers using their phones in the most dangerous locations, particularly fast roads such as the A14.

Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner Tim Passmore, pictured, said: "Despite all the publicity to stop people using their mobile phones when driving I am shocked at the number of drivers I see on their phones when I'm out and about across the county.

"I don't know if these individuals think they are above the law, but I need to make it crystal clear, yet again, that using a mobile phone when driving can cause serious collisions, if not fatalities, and it is just not acceptable.

"With this change in approach, and no opportunity to take the awareness course, you are more likely to lose your licence if you're caught and deservedly so."

POLITICS

Crunch time on deal for devolution

COUNCILLORS for Haverhill are to have their say on a plan to create a new combined authority for Norfolk and Suffolk.

The plan would see powers devolved from Westminster to the new authority, which would be run by a directly elected mayor.

The devolution proposals would also see Norfolk and Suffolk given a £750 million investment fund and £130 million housing fund.

For the plan to go forward, a total of 12 councils need to approve a draft order outlining how the new mayoral authority would work. If they all agree on it, then it will go to the Government for final approval.

Haverhill's St Edmundsbury Borough Council is set to discuss the draft order on November 21 at 6.30pm at West Suffolk House in Bury St Edmunds.

Some councils in Norfolk have chosen to opt out of the deal, although chairman of the leaders' group Andy Wood said they could apply to join if the plan went ahead.

He added that if all 12 councils do not agree on the draft order, it is possible the Government will withdraw the offer, as happened earlier this year in north-east England.

LEST WE FORGET: Wreaths at Haverhill's war memorial

Picture: Charmian Thompson

Town unites in remembrance

HANNAH MIRSKY
@HannahMirskyCN

HUNDREDS of people lined the streets in Haverhill on Sunday as the town held its annual remembrance parade.

The parade, including Sea Scouts, veterans, Cubs and Brownies and local dignitaries, made its way from the car park behind Haverhill Arts Centre to the war memorial in the town's cemetery.

Mayor of Haverhill David Roach said there were more than 500 people in the parade alone, and estimated that "well over 1,000" people turned out to watch.

"The cemetery couldn't have got anyone else in," he said.

At the cemetery, wreaths were laid on the war memorial by dignitaries including the Mayor of St Edmundsbury, Julia Wakelam, and Cllr Roach.

He said: "It was an honour and a privilege, as are most things in this role, but I think this is one of the most important things you do as mayor, take part in Remembrance Sunday. I think it's quite special."

"We do need to remember what's gone on and the service that all the armed forces do for us all the time. They put themselves in harms way."

The wreath-laying was followed by a remembrance service in a packed-out St Mary's Church, and a salute was taken in the market square as the parade marched to the church.

The parade followed two minutes silence at 11am on Friday, November 11, to mark Armistice Day. This was held on the town's high street outside the Post Office, and Cllr Roach said there was also a good turnout.

Last Thursday evening the Haverhill Family History Group organised a remembrance event at the West End Church in Withersfield Road.

The church has the most names on its war memorial out of all the town's churches, and all 31 men listed on it were commemorated.

Members of the family history group spoke about the lives of the men who died, as well as life in Haverhill during the First World War.

The audience of 80 sang hymns and the evening was accompanied by a visual display including poppies and a genuine First World War uniform manufactured at Haverhill's Chantry Mills.

Plans are already under way for the town to mark Armed Forces Day on Saturday, June 24, 2017.

COOKING

FOOD FOR THOUGHT:
Luis Navarro visited Castle
Camps Primary School
where he helped youngsters
prepare a tasty Mexican dip
Pictures: Keith Jones

Young students going loco for Mexican food

ADAM CARE
@AdamCareCN

CHILDREN at a primary school received a taste of Mexico this week, as they tried their hand at traditional cookery.

Pupils at Castle Camps Primary School, near Haverhill, learned how to make a guacamole dip, with the owner of a Cambridge restaurant.

Luis Navarro, founder and owner of Nanna Mexico, brought his Nanna's Cooking School to the pupils, to give them an insight into preparing food from scratch.

He said: "It's so important that children learn the secrets of healthy eating and preparing fresh food at an early age."

"These lessons will show them how easy it is to produce delicious food, so that when they are older they won't find the idea of cooking for themselves too daunting.

"My hope is that the next generation will see home-cooked healthy food is easy to make, so that they don't become reliant on ready meals and junk food."

He founded the cookery school to promote healthy eating, after his own son developed allergies to processed food.

Having worked closely with teachers, he has developed lesson cards which outline how to make two basic, but tasty and healthy dips.

As well as the recipes and step-by-step instructions, both cards outline the learning opportunities and benefits and even a way to extend the learning by making connections with other subjects.

Luis added: "We're providing the teacher with all the tools they need and there are absolutely no costs to the school as this project is fully funded by Nanna Mexico."

"Ultimately, we'd like to get more schools involved and give children these basic cooking lessons to help them to understand the importance of eating healthily and sensibly not just now, but as they grow into teenagers and then on to adult life."

Last year he started working with eight primary schools in Cambridgeshire, and delivered 11 interactive lessons teaching children to make guacamole dip.

He now hopes to return to the same eight schools to provide more workshops.

CRIME

Corn Exchange is broken into

THE race to save Haverhill's Corn Exchange continues, as further damage has been done to the crumbling building.

Police have confirmed the side doors of the building in Withersfield Road were damaged when vandals broke in last Wednesday night.

Carl Oldford, the resident who reported the damage, said he noticed it while driving into the car park behind the building.

He said: "As we drove up the side of the building we could see the door wide open which was strange considering the time, approximately 10.30pm."

Mr Oldford, who went to karate lessons in the Corn Exchange when he was younger, went back on Thursday morning to survey the damage.

He said: "I could see the door's lock had been broken off completely and was just lying on the floor. I stepped over the threshold to peer inside and was amazed to see such a wreck inside, especially as it had held such wonderful memories for me."

"You could tell that the inside had been trashed just like most of the windows."

Police said the only damage they knew of was to the doors on Wednesday night, as the state of the interior could have been caused by previous incidents.

HANNAH MIRSKY

A private buyer and the town council have both put in bids to buy the property from the current owner, but have yet to hear which bid has been successful.

Town clerk Colin Poole said: "This underlines the fact that we need to get the building properly secure."

He said the Corn Exchange needed to be secured not only against vandals, but against weather conditions.

The building has been derelict for a decade since it was put up for sale by the St Felix Roman Catholic Church.

The responsibility for the upkeep of the building lies with the current owner.

Steven Mudd, of Barker Storey Matthews, the agent for the building's owner, said the owner had been informed, and the door has now been secured.

He continued: "Every effort has been made to sell the property. It is not going to be demolished. Something will be done in there that's of benefit to the community."

Anyone who saw anything on Wednesday night or has any information is asked to contact Haverhill Police on 101 quoting reference 65510/16.

CHARITY

Remember a loved one at service

FAMILIES in Haverhill can remember lost loved ones this festive season at special services.

Local charity St Nicholas Hospice Care is organising its annual 'Light up a Life' services.

The Haverhill service will take place at St Mary's Church on Saturday, December 17, at 3pm.

Sharon Connell, the hospice's chaplain, said: "The Light up a Life events offer people who are bereaved, their family and friends an opportunity to join together and remember those who they have lost."

"It is a chance to celebrate and give thanks for their lives."

"These services are something we would like the whole community to share in, whether they have been touched by the hospice or not."

The services are free to attend.

The charity's fundraising director, Kevin Clements, said: "We warmly invite families to take part in Light up a Life over the Christmas period to remember a name, or simply light a candle."

For more information, or to book a place, go to www.stnicholashospicecare.org.uk/lightupalife or call (01284) 715572.

FACING EXTRADITION: Lauri Love

Minister says Love can be extradited

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

AN ALLEGED hacker from Stradishall has said he could die in prison after the Home Secretary authorised his extradition to the US.

Amber Rudd signed an extradition order for 31-year-old Lauri Love on Monday.

Love, who has Asperger syndrome, is accused of stealing large amounts of data from American government agencies including the Federal Reserve, Nasa and the FBI between 2012 and 2013.

US authorities have been pushing for him to face trial in the States, but he and his lawyers have argued that extradition would take a huge toll on his mental health.

District Judge Nina Tempia ruled on September 16 at Westminster Magistrates' Court that Love could be extradited.

The Home Secretary was given two months to consider four legal matters – including if there was a risk of the death penalty – before deciding whether to block or order extradition.

A Home Office spokesman said: "On Monday, November 14, the Secretary of State, having carefully considered all relevant matters, signed an order for Lauri Love's extradition to the United States."

Love has 14 days to apply for permission to appeal against the decision.

The alleged hacker, who suffers from eczema and depression, could face 99 years behind bars in the US, according to his lawyers.

He told the Daily Mail: "I don't think much of my future life prospects. I face decades and decades behind bars and at worst I may die."

"We were kind of expecting this but it's still a disappointment and a kick in the gut. I've got to watch my mental health now and make sure I have support. We will put as much as we can into the appeal."

It is alleged that he placed "back doors" in the websites he is said to have compromised, allowing him to return and steal the data – which caused "millions of dollars" damage.

Tor Ekeland, Love's US lawyer and an expert in hacking cases, said Ms Rudd was "boxed in" by UK legislation and would have found it "very hard" to justify blocking the extradition.

He added that Love has "one more shot" at appealing against the decision by the Home Secretary.

Fundraising duo hoping for £20k

A PAIR of Haverhill fundraisers who both lost a parent to cancer are hoping to hit their £20,000 target with a Christmas event.

Kerry Farrant and Emma Williams launched their "My Mum My Dad" fundraising campaign at the start of 2016.

Emma lost her mum Patricia Redpath to cancer four years ago, while Kerry's dad Sam Stewart passed away due to the disease in September, 2015.

Kerry herself suffered from breast cancer six years ago while she was pregnant with her first child.

The friends' campaign aims to raise as much money as possible to be divided between the cancer ward at Addenbrooke's Hospital and St Nicholas Hospice Care, which runs the Burton Centre in Haverhill's Camps Road.

They have organised a number of events throughout the year, including bingo nights and a 90s revival disco.

The biggest event was

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

an outdoor family fun day in May, which alone raised £9,100.

Now the friends are putting on their final event of the year, a Christmas fair at the New Croft in Haverhill's Chalkstone Way – and they are setting their fundraising sights even higher.

Kerry said: "I would love to get to £20,000. We've got £13,000 in the bank. It will be very, very tight to get that in one evening – if anyone wants to make a donation on the door that would be really appreciated."

But otherwise entry to the event is free.

It will see 30 stalls spilling out of the New Croft building into a heated marquee.

Local businesses will be selling unique Christmas gifts from sweets to hairbrushes, as well as hot food and hot chocolate.

The organisers are setting up a "wine and water" stall where residents can pay £1 for a bottle that may contain either wine or water.

They've also organised a raffle, with the top prize of an Xbox One donated by Haverhill Rovers.

The event will take place on Friday, November 25 and will run from 6pm to 10pm.

Kerry said: "The whole family is welcome. You can do a bit of Christmas shopping, get local unique handcrafted gifts, and raise money for charity."

She encouraged any local businesses which wanted to get involved to call her on 07824 883 094.

To find out more you can also visit the campaign's Facebook page at facebook.com/mydada1.

COUNCIL

Funding to keep homes warmer

FEELING the chill? As temperatures drop, Suffolk County Council is reminding residents that they could be eligible to have a free central heating system installed in their homes.

Haverhill households reliant on room heaters or old, inefficient storage heaters can apply for funding for an oil or gas central heating system. In exceptional circumstances the council would also fund air source heat pumps or wood fuel.

The council can fund up to 270 central heating installations, and 180 quotes have already been completed.

Cllr Becky Hopfensperger, cabinet member for adult care, said: "This winter those homes will see a huge difference in their quality of life."

Households could be eligible if their income is under £17,000, their savings are under £5,000, and members of the household include over-63s, under-5s or someone with a long-term health condition.

To find out more about this and other ways the council can help keep your home warm, call the local rate helpline on 03456 037 686 or email whhp@eastssuffolk.gov.uk

'20 per cent of children poor'

SAMAR MAGUIRE
SamarMaguireCN

ONE in five children in West Suffolk are suffering from poverty, new figures have revealed.

And in some parts of Haverhill, the figure stands at three in 10.

The End Child Poverty coalition has published new figures which show more than three million children are living in poverty in the UK – including 22.4 per cent of children in the East of England as a whole.

The figures show that West Suffolk has an average of 20.6 per cent of children suffering from poverty.

Cambridge MP Daniel Zeichner told the News: "It is utterly disgraceful that the Tories are plunging a generation of children into poverty."

"The Government have an opportunity to use the upcoming Autumn Statement to end the freeze on children's benefits, and to reverse the cuts to in-work benefits under Universal Credit. They must take it."

However, although poverty exists in every part of Haverhill, the figures show a large division.

As many as 31 per cent of children are living in poverty in Haverhill South – the worst in West Suffolk.

In Haverhill East the figure is 20 per cent, in Haverhill North it is 18 per cent which compares with 8 per cent in Haverhill West.

The figures in West Suffolk are also lower than average in the St Edmundsbury wards of Barningham at 9.6 per cent and Barrow at 8.7 per cent and in Forest Heath's ward of Manor at 12.6 per cent.

But in Coastal Suffolk the figure is 21.5 per cent, in South Suffolk it is 20.4 per cent, and in Central Suffolk it stands at 17.96 per cent.

A spokesperson for Suffolk County Council said: "The county council is committed to reducing the levels of child poverty in Suffolk.

"Suffolk County Council promotes a wide range of services that contribute to breaking the cycle of child poverty, including supporting parents to access free or affordable childcare so they can work or study.

"Families can also access financial inclusion officers and Job Centre Plus advisors through children's centres, to ensure they are receiving the financial benefits that they are entitled to and help them find suitable employment."

The figures show child poverty is the highest in large cities, particularly in London, Birmingham and Manchester and lowest in constituencies Gordon and Kincardine.

YOUNGSTERS enjoyed a teddy bear's picnic at Kedington Library to mark Children's Book Week.

Bookstart Bear welcomed 15 children along with their teddies.

They were given the new Bear's Reading Adventure activity books and stickers which encourage young children and their families to visit libraries and read together every day.

POLICE

Change over parking two years away

ON-STREET parking powers will not be transferred to the county council before April 2019, Suffolk's Police and Crime Commissioner (PCC) has said.

If the switch goes ahead, police officers would still deal with serious breaches, such as parking on a bend. The more routine cases, such as parking on a double yellow line, would be dealt with by the local authority.

PCC Tim Passmore said: "If you have dedicated teams run by the local authority, parking enforcement will be done much more effectively."

He said he understood public concern at the wait, adding: "The reason why it'll take so long is that we need to get it through Parliament. There's nothing I can do apart from lobbying our MPs to get on with the process."

"But first of all, we've got to get all authority leaders to agree to this. We've got a meeting on November 18 so we can get on with it."

"I'm prepared to put a substantial amount of money into getting the schemes up and running. But until then I would ask to please understand that we're not in a position with the resources to focus entirely on parking."

I Love Christmas in Haverhill

The Top Five Highest-grossing CHRISTMAS Movies of All Time

5. The Santa Clause (1994)

Many people forget that this 90s classic has a dark premise: Tim Allen's character accidentally kills Santa on Christmas Eve, before magically taking his place. Murderous backstory aside, there follows such a feast of slapstick humor and gags that it spawned two sequels: The Santa Clause 2 and The Escape Clause.

4. Elf (2003)

This typically madcap Will Ferrell vehicle captured the hearts of kids and adults alike through the title character's mission to find his father in New York after being raised an elf in the North Pole. Buddy's unceasing enthusiasm in spreading Christmas cheer provides most of the laughs, an optimistic message reminding viewers not to get too jaded at this time of year.

3. The Polar Express (2004)

The animated film that reunited director Robert Zemeckis and Tom Hanks following their earlier successes Forrest Gump and Cast

Away. Hanks has a speaking role this time as the Polar Express conductor in an inspiring adventure based on the classic children's story. The heartwarming film rightly became an instant classic and box-office smash.

2. How the Grinch Stole Christmas (2000)

Another big-screen adaptation of a children's book, this Universal production was inspired by the 1966 version of the Dr. Seuss tale following the reclusive green Grinch as he discovers the real meaning of Christmas. With Jim Carrey in the lead role it achieved the biggest opening season ever for a Christmas movie.

1. Home Alone (1990)

The film that inspired a generation of kids to think up a range of elaborate booby-traps and launched McCauley Culkin, whose character Kevin is accidentally left home alone for Christmas to fend off the break-in attempts of two would-be burglars. Three sequels followed but none would ever approach the original's success.

How to dress your CHRISTMAS tree

Snow White tree, available 5ft-8ft, from 69.99, available from Christmas Tree World. Credit: PA Photo/Handout

Treat your tree to a new look this year. Gabrielle Fagan reveals this season's top styles.

Arctic Chic

White trees with white lights are a popular choice this year.

Stephen Evans, managing director at Christmas Tree World, said: "This is a sleek, fuss-free but magical setting and works brilliantly with blue decorations - they're a really strong trend. Combine with silver, grey and white for a Frozen or Narnia-inspired look."

Tartan Traditional

"This classic seasonal look is being shaken up this year, with a tartan twist," says Dobbies seasonal buyer, Kate Hepworth. "Traditional style - particularly the pairing of red and green - is enduringly popular, but the accents change every season to give this theme a new injection of interest." Images of stags, trees, owls, robins and reindeers on baubles and accessories all add to the seasonal look.

Shimmer & Shine

"Metallic finishes always impress and attractively capture the light," says Kate. "Silver is always a contemporary choice, although there's a real growth in the popularity of more antiqued silver and vintage baubles."

"Gold's still strong for decorations, with rose gold featuring - but champagne gold is taking over because it's glamorous and sophisticated, and suits more gentle, subtle schemes."

Nordic Style

If you're inspired by Scandinavian style and hygge then this pared back look which emphasises the tree's natural beauty is for you.

Kate says: "To achieve this, use clear glass, white, or silver decorations, which will conjure a feeling of snow-laden landscape, or play up the natural theme with green baubles."

"Accessorise around the tree with lanterns, wooden candle holders, and chunky cream knits for throws and cushions, and maybe wreaths and garlands of mistletoe and holly."

Local fresh produce for the FESTIVE SEASON

Kedington Butchers has been in business for over 40 years, offering fresh, locally sourced meat to customers across Kedington and Haverhill.

"Almost everything we sell is local produce," says owner Paul Morris. "And 90 per cent of what comes in the shop is from Suffolk which we're very proud of."

Kedington Butchers sell a wide range of deliciously fresh meat at very reasonable prices.

"We're very competitive with the supermarkets," says Paul. "In many cases we're actually a lot cheaper than them especially with our value family packs which we do for £10."

Choose from Riverside beef, Dingley Dell pork, Salt Marsh lamb, cured bacons, free range chickens, home-made sausages and burgers, pork steaks, pork chops and game. And if you're also looking for pies, fresh fruit and fresh vegetables, than Kedington Butchers have that covered too. Plus, if you're planning an event this Christmas then don't miss visiting the deli counter which offers a range of handmade savoury pies and sausage roll.

Orders are now being taken for Christmas turkeys and with free delivery on top, there's every reason to make sure you get yours from Kedington Butchers. The shop also sells quality halal chicken and if you would like to order any other halal meat it can be ordered in for you. Kedington Butchers also sell meat to outside trades including catering companies, ideal for weddings, parties and celebrations so make sure you give them a call to discuss your catering needs.

CLASSIC FRUITY MINCE PIES

Ingredients:

- 175g plain flour
- 50g brown sugar
- 75g icing sugar
- 100g cubed butter
- 50g chopped glacé cherries
- 150g mixed dried fruit
- ½ large orange, grated zest and juice
- ½ apple
- 25g suet
- 1 egg yolk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla extract
- 1 tablespoon cold water
- 3 tablespoons port
- ½ tablespoon mixed spice

Makes: 12

Method:

1. Put flour, icing sugar and butter cubes into food processor and mix until resembling breadcrumbs. Add egg yolk, vanilla extract and water and mix again until pastry forms. Transfer to a surface, shape into a disc, wrap in clingfilm and chill for half an hour.

2. Grate the half apple into a bowl with the brown sugar, mixed spice, suet, glacé cherries, dried fruit, grated zest and juice of half orange and port. Stir and leave aside.

3. Roll pastry out on a floured surface until about 3-4mm thick, then stamp 12 rounds out with an 8cm cutter. Use rounds to line a 12-hole bun tin and fill cases with the mincemeat. Re-roll pastry trimmings and stamp out slightly smaller shapes for the pie-tops. Glaze tops with egg white.

4. Bake at 180°C, gas mark 5, for around 20 minutes, until golden. Cool in tin for a few minutes before transferring to wire rack. Dust with icing sugar and serve warm or once cooled.

Celebrate CHRISTMAS in style at the Rose and Crown Hotel

Celebrate Christmas in style at the Rose and Crown Hotel in Haverhill run by husband & wife Keith & Amanda Urquhart along with a professional team – most of whom have been with them since they took over five years ago.

The stunning 16th century building has everything you need to make Christmas special whether you are looking for a party venue or somewhere to have Christmas dinner on the day itself.

Situated on Withersfield Road, its central location, top quality facilities and long tradition of exclusive service make it the perfect place to hold your seasonal celebrations.

If you're looking for a festive lunch for friends, family or work colleagues or a Christmas party, take a look at the Rose and Crown's carvery. You can choose from turkey, beef, honey roast gammon or a vegetarian option plus a dessert for £20.

On Friday nights your festivities will be accompanied by live music in the bar. A disco can also be arranged, subject to numbers.

And on Saturdays you can dance the night away to a Soundwave Disco after the meal.

The Christmas carvery is available from November 30 to December 23, Wednesday to Saturday.

On Christmas Day itself you and your family can enjoy our very popular and delicious four course meal including a bottle of wine to share between every two guests.

You will have a choice of starter, a main course of carvery meats including traditional turkey, followed by a selection of desserts with tea or coffee and mints. All this is just £60 per person or £40 per child. Owner Keith said "This year, I'm afraid, we are now fully booked for Christmas Day. But we are now taking bookings for 2017.

Booking is essential and the meal starts at 12 noon.

The venue can host large parties, for private or work functions, from 80 people seated to 150 guests for a buffet. The Rose and Crown has a well stocked bar, a large enclosed garden and an extensive car park - so guests will have no trouble getting there and if they decide to stay over, the hotel has 10 recently refurbished bedrooms including a honeymoon suite.

"Why not join us for our very popular New Years Eve Party featuring Soundwaves Disco with Paul Grocott." Said Keith. Tickets are available at £5 per person but hurry, there are limited spaces remaining. To book call (01440) 708446.

PLANNING

Plan for £500k Scout building

A PLANNING application has been submitted to build a £500,000 new home for Haverhill's Scouts and Guides.

The proposals would see the current aging portable buildings replaced with one new, modern block.

Chairman of Haverhill's Scouts and Guides committee Larry Dilloway said the new block would contain two halls and a meeting room as well as facilities such as a kitchen, storage area and toilets.

The current buildings, in Colne Valley Road, would be knocked down to create a car park, with the new building next to it.

Mr Dilloway explained that the site has several acres of land behind it, bequeathed to the Scouts and Guides by the Gurteen family.

He said: "The beauty of the place is they have got this lovely park where they can do all these activities

HANNAH MIRSKY

@HannahMirskyCN

– but in winter you need a building."

He estimated that the current buildings are unlikely to last more than two more years.

If the planning application is approved, Mr Dilloway said the new building would be in use by the end of 2018 at the latest.

It would be used by around 200 children and young people each week.

Scout and Guide groups – as well as younger groups such as Brownies, Cubs and Beavers – would be using the building every evening during the week.

It would also be used during the weekend for activities such as camping on the land attached to it.

Mr Dilloway said the Scouts and Guides would be looking at other community uses for the building during the day, such as hosting activities for local nurseries.

He said: "It will be bigger, it will be more usable. We have had an architect design it so it's ergonomically better, warmer and easier to heat."

But even if the planning application is approved the Scouts and Guides still need to raise a large proportion of the £500,000 needed.

Mr Dilloway asked anyone with experience of filling out grant applications or similar fundraising to get in touch.

You can contact him on (01440) 766350 or e-mail larry@dilloways.com.

If you would like to become a Guide or Brownie leader, contact Sarah Lyons on sarah.lyons66@hotmail.co.uk or 07730031539.

THATCHED: Balsham Butcher's is up for auction

Chance to buy old butcher's shop

A COTTAGE which has been used as a family butcher's shop for more than 60 years is set to be auctioned off.

The retail premises of Balsham Butcher's, at 25-27 High Street in the village, has gone up for sale.

The shop was run by the same family from 1955 until it closed earlier this year.

Now the Grade II-listed thatched property is set to be auctioned off on December 7, with a guide price of £300,000 to £325,000.

The thatched cottage has two floors, with a retail unit measuring over 753 sq ft on the ground floor and an upstairs area which measures over 442 sq ft.

ON STAGE:
Haverhill
Centre Stage's
Vicar of Dibley performance
The Second Coming

■ Friday, November 18 – Friday, November 25.
■ If ol' Blue Eyes flies you to the moon or makes you feel so young then you can't miss Sinatra: His Way tomorrow at 7.30pm. Seasoned performer Robert Habermann tells, and sings, the remarkable story on one of the greatest singers of the 20th century. Along the way he will be performing such golden oldies as Come Fly With Me, Fly Me To The Moon, Witchcraft, You Make Me Feel So Young, Young at Heart, Strangers in the Night, My Way and more.

■ Expansive Dutch charm, interesting hair and Christmas cheer combine for the broadcast André Rieu: Christmas with André on Saturday at 5pm. Tickets do exist but are rare beasts, so book soon to avoid missing this festive celebration packed with favourites. The concert will be performed by the violinist/conductor and his famous Johann Strauss Orchestra. André invites his fans to his home town for an intimate tour of Maastricht's magical Christmas highlights. And if that wasn't an embarrassment of riches enough. André will be participating in a Q&A with CinemaLive host Charlotte Hawkins where 'The King of Waltz' will answer questions submitted by cinema audiences.

■ No, no, no, no, no, no, no, yes! It is the return of the Vicar of Dibley and her eccentric parishioners for The Second Coming. It's Christmas time in Dibley, are Hugo and Alice ensconced in marital bliss? What horrendous heights can Mrs Cropley's seasonal recipes reach? Will the RSPCA ever catch up with Owen Newitt? Find out the answers to these burning issues and more besides; join Haverhill's Centre Stage Company for some festive family fun and frolics from, Wednesday, November 23 to Saturday, November 26. Some of the ticket price will be donated to Comic Relief – so you can have a laugh and donate to charity at the same time.

■ Two travelling minstrels will be visiting the arts centre on Monday, November 28 – Guy Davis and Brooks Williams. Two of the world's most acclaimed guitarists come together for an evening of blues electric, acoustic, slide guitar and singing with Inside the Delta. The arts centre will have the film version of the literary hit, The Girl on the Train (15) on Tuesday, November 29, and another, Inferno (12) on Wednesday, November 30.

FILM REVIEWS

With Damon Smith

SCIENCE FRICTION

Intelligent sci-fi drama Arrival paints a picture of a deeply divided Earth's shambolic response to its first contact with aliens

COCOONED in the tiny bubbles that constitute our lives, planet Earth seems huge – a polluted rock cluttered with billions of competing lifeforms, whose paths rarely intersect.

As our world turns, we rarely look past national borders, let alone tilt our heads to the stars and contemplate how insignificant we are in the vast expanse of space.

When we do, it seems inconceivable that of all the planets we can see with the most powerful telescopes or probes, only our astronomical home is capable of sustaining life.

The greater surprise, surely, would be that we are alone.

Based on a short story by Ted Chiang, Arrival is contemplative science-fiction drama, which imagines mankind's shambolic reaction to first contact with an otherworldly race, and the dangerous fractures that would appear as nations disagree over the best course of action.

If governments can't cooperate over the environment, finance

ARRIVAL (12A)

and immigration, what hope is there when we collectively face a possible extinction event?

Director Denis Villeneuve and screenwriter Eric Heisserer aren't interested in Independence Day-style pyrotechnics, although their film is punctuated with impressive visual sequences.

Like Close Encounters Of The Third Kind, Arrival philosophises and digests before it considers locking and loading a weapon.

Twelve giant obloid spacecraft enter Earth's atmosphere and descend over seemingly random locations including Devon.

US Army Colonel Weber (Forest Whitaker) leads the American response and he recruits emotionally scarred linguistics expert Dr Louise Banks (Amy Adams) to decipher a code used by the visitors.

Banishing painful memories of her young daughter's death, Louise aligns with military scientist Ian Donnelly (Jeremy Renner) to unravel the conundrum, while the CIA, led by Agent Halpern (Michael Stuhlbarg), considers the terrifying possibility that we are in the calm before an intergalactic war.

As nations grow nervous, especially General Shang (Tzi Ma), chairman of the People's Liberation Army in China, Louise and Ian take potentially lethal leaps of faith to better understand the aliens' intentions.

Meanwhile, Captain Marks (Mark O'Brien) and other subordinates under Weber's command debate a show of force against the extra-terrestrials.

Anchored by Adams' mesmerizing performance, Arrival is a stylish tale of grief and self-sacrifice that uncoils beautifully.

Pacing is deliberately pedestrian, cranking up tension as flawed characters wrestle with agonizing questions of mortality.

The two visible aliens – affectionately referred to as Abbott and Costello – are a triumph of digital wizardry that doesn't distract from the script.

In Villeneuve and Heisserer's all too recognisable world, at the very moment we discover we are not alone, we have never been further apart.

Jeremy Renner is a scientist tasked with making contact

AMERICAN PASTORAL (15)

IF one emotion shepherded Donald Trump to the White House, it was anger: the simmering rage of evermen and women across America, fed up with the self-serving political establishment.

Indignation also percolates beneath the surface of American Pastoral, a 1960s-set suburban drama about a radicalized girl, whose actions tear her family apart.

Directed by Ewan McGregor, who unwisely casts himself in a lead role with a wavering American accent, it's a film that should deliver an emotional wallop. However, it's very difficult to muster any sympathy for the anaemic characters.

We see Jewish American businessman Seymour (McGregor) assume control of the Newark Maid Glove factory established by his father (Peter Riegert) and marry an Irish-Catholic girl called Dawn (Jennifer Connelly).

Seymour and Dawn raise a stuttering daughter called Merry (Dakota Fanning) on their farm in Old Rimrock, where they are cocooned from a changing world.

When images of Vietnam flicker on the TV screen, Merry finds her voice and lashes out.

McGregor lacks any chemistry with Connelly, while Fanning fails to grapple the complexities of the film's turgid final act.

Ewan McGregor and Jennifer Connelly are the all-American couple out of touch with the harsh realities of the times

LOS ANGELES gallery owner Susan Morrow (Amy Adams) endures a cold marriage to philandering businessman Hutton (Armie Hammer).

Out of the blue, Susan receives a manuscript from her first husband, Edward (Jake Gyllenhaal), whose sweet nature jarred with her cruel mother, Anne (Laura Linney).

With Hutton away on business, Susan devours the pages of Edward's manuscript and in her mind's eye, she imagines Tony Hastings (Gyllenhaal again), his wife Laura (Isla Fisher) and teenage daughter India (Ellie Bamber) taking a late night drive. On a desert highway, the family is terrorized by Ray Marcus (Aaron Taylor-Johnson) and his buddies.

Laura and India are abducted and local detective Bobby Andes (Michael Shannon) supports Tony as the husband discovers the women's horrifying fate. Nocturnal Animals serves up a dish of revenge with measured restraint.

One day, a rowing boat washes ashore. Inside they find a dead man and a crying baby. Isabel pleads with Tom to raise the girl as their own. But on one of their visits to the mainland, Tom discovers a local woman, Hannah (Rachel Weisz) who's grieving a husband and child lost at sea.

THE ACCOUNTANT (15)

CHRISTIAN WOLFF (Ben Affleck) meticulously investigates embezzlement, insider trading and other financial irregularities in criminal enterprises.

The Treasury Department, led by soon-to-retire financial crimes director, Raymond King (JK Simmons), is determined to expose Wolff as the shadowy figure called The Accountant.

King blackmails ambitious analyst Marybeth Medina (Cynthia Addai-Robinson) into following the evidence trail and confirming Wolff's involvement.

Meanwhile, Wolff is hired by Lamar Blackburn (John Lithgow), long-serving CEO of Living Robotics, to verify the findings of in-house accountant, Dana Cummings (Anna Kendrick), who alleges more than 60 million dollars of company funds are missing.

The Accountant is a slick, engrossing romp that uses the lead character's developmental disability as a hook for cheap yet satisfying thrills.

Timber-framed cottage

Cover property

Cockfield: £250,000

THIS four bedroom timber-framed cottage in Cockfield, Bury St Edmunds, is on the market with a guide price of £250,000. Believed to date from the 17th century and in need of complete refurbishment, with good scope for extension, subject to planning, it has accommodation including a sitting room with large open fireplace, a dining room, a kitchen/breakfast room and a shower room. On the first floor there is a bedroom with cast iron fireplace, three more bedrooms and a family bathroom. Outside there is a plot with land, mature fruit trees, an established moat culminating in a larger pond to the rear of the property and a small brick-built store. Viewing is by arrangement through Cheffins on (01440) 707076.

VEYRON: Warrantywise has policy

Ultimate insurance cover is £10,000 pa

WARRANTYWISE has revealed details of its ultimate cover: a Platinum Plus warranty for one of the world's most exclusive cars, the Bugatti Veyron. The £2m supercar, which is available from Tom Hartley, Britain's premier high-end car dealer, will be sold as standard with a £10,000 12-month Platinum Plus warranty.

As one of the world's fastest, most desirable and most complex vehicles, the Bugatti Veyron needs a very special warranty – in this case Warrantywise's highest level of cover, Platinum Plus. Warrantywise will cover any repairs up to the retail value of the car, including wear and tear, plus roadside assistance and car hire.

Back in the real world
Warrantywise's policies start from £19 per month.

ELECTRIFYING: The Nissan Leaf

Sales of Nissan Leaf up 10% earlier in year

EUROPEAN Nissan Leaf sales have risen by 10 per cent in the first half of FY16 compared with the same period last year, says Nissan. The latest figures also reveal that there are more than 75,000 Nissan EV owners in Europe as the electric vehicle revolution speeds up.

This momentous milestone follows the recent announcement that 260,000 Nissan EVs have been sold worldwide, reinforcing Nissan's vision for a zero-emission future as the brand continues to make Intelligent Mobility a reality.

EV sales have been further bolstered by e-NV200 sales year-to-date FY16 up 34 per cent year-on-year. Increased demand for Nissan's zero-emission e-NV200 from firms across Europe comes as the brand celebrates the extension of its class-leading five-year warranty to include the all-electric LCV.

The LEAF's 30kWh battery now offers 155 miles in driving range.

The new Golf is raising the bar all over again

VOLKSWAGEN is digitalising the most successful model in the Group's history – the Golf – with a major update.

The main focus of the 2017 model year is – alongside new engines, keener design and new assistance systems – a completely new generation of infotainment systems. As a world first in the compact class, the top-of-the-range "Discover Pro" system can be operated by gesture control. With its 9.2-inch screen it forms a conceptual and visual entity with the Active Info Display, which is also new to the Golf. In parallel to this, the range of online services and apps has also been enlarged.

The update to the Golf, of which more than 33 million have been sold to date, also reflects a new standard for assistance systems in the compact class: technologies such as City Emergency Braking with new Pedestrian Monitoring function, the new Traffic Jam Assist (partially automated driving at speeds of up to 60km/h, 37mph) and Emergency Assist, which is also new in this segment, significantly improve safety.

The progressive digitalisation is accompanied by the enhanced EA211 TSI engine family, with new TSI engines and a new 7-speed DSG. The new Golf initially sees the debut of the new turbocharged petrol engine, the "1.5 TSI Evo" – a 110 kW/150PS four-cylinder turbo with Active Cylinder Management (ACT). This will be followed

UNVEILED YESTERDAY: Volkswagen's latest Golf brings an awesome battery of new technology into the compact class

INCREDIBLE ACHIEVEMENT: 33 million models later and the Golf, now in its seventh generation, is still getting better by a BlueMotion version producing 96 kW/130 PS. Volkswagen has also boosted the performance of the Golf GTI, the new version of which will produce 169 kW/230PS and 180 kW/245PS (GTI Performance) and a new 7-speed DSG (dual clutch gearbox) will gradually replace the 6-speed DSG as a high-efficiency gearbox for the Golf.

Volkswagen presented the update to the two- and four-door Golf, the Golf Variant and the sporty Golf GTI and Golf GTE at Volkswagen's headquarters in Wolfsburg yesterday. The more refined design of all new versions of the Golf makes a more powerful impression than ever before. The modifications include new bumpers at the front and rear, new halogen headlights with LED daytime running lights, new full LED headlights instead of xenon headlights, new front wings, new full LED tail lights – which come as standard for every version of the Golf – as well as new wheels and colours, and the interior of the 2017 model year Golf is finished off with refined new decorative trims and fabrics.

The inclusion of Park Assist 3.0 – semi-automated parking and manoeuvring – means the new Golf brakes and steers automatically. Park Assist makes it possible to park in any parking space that is parallel or perpendicular to the carriageway semi-automatically, and the system can also exit from parallel parking spaces. In the case of perpendicular parking spaces, not only is parking in reverse supported for the first time in a Golf, but it is also possible to park in a forward direction semi-automatically. The first generation of Park Assist assisted the driver by performing automated steering for parallel parking. The second generation of Park Assist added automatic steering for reverse parking into spaces perpendicular to the carriageway, and parallel parking spaces could also be smaller. In addition, automatic exiting from parallel parking spaces was also possible.

Finally, the Golf is one of the first cars in its class to feature a proactive passenger protection system (PreCrash). The Golf update includes further refinement of the proactive passenger protection system. It also interacts intelligently with the Front Assist system to react to strong autonomous braking interventions and acute collision hazards in order to provide the best possible support to passengers in critical situations.

Oh, and – the key is personalised. It serves as your ID: individual settings are saved.

The range of equipment versions of the Golf remains unchanged. Prices to follow.

Nissan launches Micra 'Get & Go' shared ownership

NISSAN has announced a pioneering new digital-first shared car ownership service which is set to transform the traditional car sharing industry. Nissan Intelligent Get & Go Micra, revealed by Nissan Chairman and CEO Carlos Ghosn at the Web Summit in Lisbon, Portugal, will give people the possibility to part-own a brand new Nissan Micra.

Social networking is at the heart of this plan, as Nissan is able to profile-match consumers to form next-generation car sharing communities via a 100 per cent digital experience.

Launching initially in the Paris area later this year, cars are expected on the road by April 2017. The service, based on a unique algorithm that uses social profiling and geo-localisation technology, will match compatible owners with complementary driving needs to form a 100 per cent digital, shared ownership community. With bespoke monthly invoicing based on car usage, members can expect no surprises.

Commenting on the launch, Ghosn said: "We are moving toward a future where car usage may be more flexible, social and shared. At Nissan, we're pioneering new ways to allow drivers to enjoy the freedom and financial benefits of shared car ownership."

This new service is borne out of Nissan's Intelligent Mobility vision, which provides a framework for how cars are powered, driven, and integrated into society.

Nissan Intelligent Get & Go Micra service uses the new Nissan Micra Acenta 0.90 MT with Bose Personal Audio (a world first), and will include insurance, servicing, access to the online matching tool, smartphone app and in-car technology. Communities will need to agree upon an annual mileage limit of 15,000km.

DIGITAL-FIRST: The Nissan Micra

Revealed: Ely is UK's posh car capital

DRAMATIC differences in the values of cars offered to dealers across Britain are highlighted in a new study revealing Ely in Cambridgeshire as the UK's posh car capital.

The analysis, by Wizzle.co.uk – a consumer car selling service – also reveals Rhondda, in the Welsh valleys, as the place where motorists sell more cheap and cheerful cars than anywhere else.

Although the most expensive car currently advertised on Wizzle is a £76,000 Lamborghini Gallardo in London, it's Cambridgeshire where motorists are offering the highest average value cars for sale.

With an average asking price of £36,358, motorists across Cambridgeshire are typically selling cars worth twice as much as drivers in neighbouring regions such as Norfolk, Suffolk and Lincolnshire.

But it's the Welsh valleys where the most cheap and cheerful motors are on offer, with the crown taken by Rhondda Cynon Taf where average values rarely reach four figures. That's where the cheapest car for sale on Wizzle – a £500 nine-year-old Ford Ka – is currently offered.

The study also reveals that motorists in Birmingham, Leicester and Leeds are most switched on to the idea of selling their car for cash, rather than part exchanging it. In contrast, Scots and motorists in Wales are the least likely to go online for a cash sale.

BMW M3: That'll do nicely!

Wizzle founder Sébastien Duval said: "We decided to analyse the values of cars advertised around the country when somebody uploaded details of their Lamborghini Gallardo to sell. We wanted to test our assumption that the capital would be where all the best cars are offered.

"So it came as a surprise to find that Cambridgeshire was where the most expensive vehicles are being sold on Wizzle.

"Despite the appearance of a Lamborghini on our site, London actually falls somewhere in the middle of our national car values range, some way behind places like Hampshire, Gloucester, Shropshire and even the Isle of Wight. In fact, London doesn't even make the top ten in terms of posh cars on sale.

"On the other side of the coin it seems to be Scotland and Wales where the cheaper cars tend to be most commonly offered, with the cheapest being in the valleys of South Wales. Interestingly that also coincides with our finding that fewer cars in general are being offered for a cash purchase in Scotland and Wales too."

The towns or regions with the most expensive cars for sale on Wizzle are:

1. Ely, Cambridgeshire
2. East Hampshire
3. Isle of Wight
4. Torbay, Devon
5. Dacorum, Hertfordshire
6. Gloucester
7. Chiltern, Buckinghamshire
8. Castle Point, Essex
9. Telford & Wrekin, Shropshire
10. Sandwell, West Midlands

The towns or regions with the least expensive cars for sale on Wizzle are:

1. Rhondda Cynon Taf, South Wales
2. Babergh, Suffolk
3. Wellingborough, Northants
4. Wokingham, Berkshire
5. West Lothian, Scotland
6. Hambleton, North Yorkshire
7. Bassetlaw, North Nottinghamshire
8. Brighton & Hove, East Sussex
9. Wakefield, West Yorkshire
10. West Norfolk, Norfolk

How to improve a car's performance by 70%

The effectiveness consultancy Benchmarking recently analysed what happens when companies include press advertising in their media mix.

They looked at more than 500 econometric models, covering a five-year period and, as the table here shows, they found that adding newspapers dramatically increases the effectiveness of other media.

In the automotive sector they reviewed companies that ranged from the big spending German giants of the industry to medium sized independent carmakers.

And they discovered that by adding newspaper advertising to their campaigns, they cranked up their effectiveness by over 70%.

Increased effectiveness using newspapers

Retail	Automotive	Finance
2.8x	1.7x	5.7x

So, whatever the size your business or budget, get motoring into newspapers.

Strictly Come Dancing – The Live Tour Birmingham 10th Anniversary

Departing on 20 January 2017

Jazz up your January and join us for an evening with the stars of Strictly. The Live Tour is a fantastic follow up to the latest series which brings the magic of the TV to some of the UK's biggest arenas, and this time around it celebrates its 10th anniversary with the promise that it will be bigger and better than ever before. TV judges Len Goodman and Craig Revel Horwood will be there to give their scores on the celebrities and professional dancers, but the power is ultimately down to you, the arena audience, as you cast your own vote via your mobile phone. It's a night out not to miss out!

Prices Includes:

The Nutcracker at the Royal Opera House

Departing on 9 January 2016

Enter a world of enchantment as the Royal Ballet performs this all-time classic in celebration of choreographer and director Peter Wright's 90th birthday. The Nutcracker tells the story of a young girl and her beloved nutcracker who are whisked away on a magical adventure, where they stumble upon the villainous Mouse King before meeting the Sugar Plum Fairy at the Kingdom of Sweets. With Tchaikovsky's magnificent score and most well-known melodies played by the Orchestra of the Royal Opera House, watch as the stage sparkles, a Christmas tree grows before your eyes and toy soldiers come to life. But was it all a dream? Do any of the fabled characters really exist? Find out on this unforgettable festive treat...

Prices Includes:

JOB OPPORTUNITIES CAMBRIDGE

From coats to cameras, cosmetics to Christmas gifts, at Yodel, our people handle, load and deliver it all — right from our warehouse here in Cambridge. But in the busy run-up to Christmas, we need some extra hands to help us out.

You could join us as a neighbourhood courier, where you'll use your own car to drop off parcels and packages to people in the area around where you live. Or, if you're a van driver, you could join us in a full-time job, delivering parcels to homes and businesses right across Cambridge and neighbouring towns.

Your care and attention will help us to deliver thousands of parcels every day, on time and in great condition.

Haines scores as Rovers earn a point at Yarmouth

Football

LUKE Haines was on target as Haverhill Rovers held Great Yarmouth to a 1-1 draw on the road in the Thurlow Nunn League, Premier Division.

Yarmouth took the lead after 20 minutes, but Haines went close just before the break only for his effort to be pawed away from the top corner.

Haines struck on 48 minutes though, tucking away a penalty after Mason Newman was brought down in the area.

Ben Bradley almost nicked a winner for Rovers late on only for his long-range drive to be tipped around the post.

Boss Ben Cowling said: "We were excellent in the first half and could have put the game to bed, but their goalkeeper made three or four very good saves to keep them in it."

"We dominated the first 15 minutes of the second half, but then it became quite stretched. It's a good point for us."

Craig Pruden's last-gasp penalty earned Haverhill Borough a 2-1 win at home to Framlingham in the First Division.

John Kerridge headed the visitors in front on 29 minutes, but they had Kieran Joesph sent off for a dangerous tackle on Ryan Swallow early in the second half.

SEEING RED: Haverhill Borough's Charlie Holmes was sent off against Framlingham

Ryan Phillips equalised for Borough four minutes from time by nodding in Andrew French's cross only for Charlie Holmes to be dismissed for a second booking.

But after Pruden's late shot was handled by Anthony Johnson, the Framlingham defender saw red and the Borough striker slotted home the resulting spot kick.

4:41 and just over the five hour mark, respectively.

Closer to home, Haverhill took third place in the Team category at the Stowmarket Scenic Seven race.

The standout performer was Westley Walker, who finished in 44min 49sec, with Craig Sisson finishing just over a minute behind him on 45.48.

Lee Brown recorded a PB in the race, finishing in 47.57.

Finally, Sill Clay and Alison Austin completed a gruelling 10 mile road race held in Stebbing to mark Remembrance Day.
